A Message from the Principal...

Dear Braeburn Families and Friends,

I am amazed by the speed at which the school year continues to move and how much enthusiasm our students possess in their daily learning endeavors. While writing I am reflecting on the months of September, October and November and I realize how quickly time does pass and how much our children have grown. I am very proud of our students as they work hard to gain and apply new knowledge inside and outside the classroom. Now that December is here it provides us all the opportunity to look back at the current year and to focus on the new year ahead.

As we move forward into the month of December we are reminded of all of the accomplishments, challenges and opportunities that this year has brought and what our new goals will be for the new school year and beyond. Some highlights to conclude this year are:

- * Food drive ending on 12/14
- * Pajama Day on 12/14
- * our Winter Concert on 12/6
- * our winter recess beginning 12/24 and ending on 1/2
- * our Positive Behavior Assembly focus for January "Seek First to Understand and Then to be Understood"

Please take time to ask how your child(ren) are demonstrating being respectful at school and home.

Habit #5
SEEK FIRST TO UNDERSTAND
THEN TO BE UNDERSTOOD
Listen before you speak

- I listen to others without interrupting.
- I raise my hand when I want to Speak and I wait to be called on.
- I don't blurt out.
- I try to understand other people's views and feelings, even if they are different from my own.

Looking ahead to setting goals I want to share the following article written by Bobbi DePorter of Quantum Learning Network:

The middle of the school year is a great time for families to check in with students on goals. Setting academic and personal goals helps motivate, energize, and focus students, and it is a valuable skill that will benefit learners throughout their lives. Parents can help students set and achieve these goals. Goal-setting can be tedious, even intimidating, for some students. Parents can support students in this process by following these steps: pick it, map it, do it, own it, and celebrate it.

Pick it. Encourage your child to consider his or her dreams and passions and pick goals that are important and meaningful. Guide your child to think about, “What motivates me? What would inspire me to give my best effort? What would make me feel good while I’m doing it? What achievement would make me feel proud?”

Map it. After your child picks a goal, help map the path from where he or she is now to where the child wants to be. Offer the following analogy: If we want to drive across the country from New York to California, we don’t just get in our car and start driving—we get a map, pick a route, and follow it until we get to California. With your child, analyze different approaches and define clear steps to reach their goal. For instance, if the goal is to get a higher test grade in a tough subject, each quiz or project is a step on the path to the higher goal: earning an A.

Do it. Once you and your child have mapped a path to their goal, encourage him or her to take action, focus on the first step and give it his or her best effort. Remind your child that no goal is ever reached without focused action.

Own it. As your child makes progress toward their goal, help him or her to take responsibility for making it happen. Teach the mantra, “If it’s to be, it’s up to me!” Reflect with your child. Ask, “How are you doing? What’s working? What’s not working? What can you or your family change to get to this goal?” From there, analyze the map, and make changes to the plan if necessary. Help your child keep a positive attitude and own mistakes as well as successes. Remind your child that if something comes along that holds him or her back temporarily, to look at the experience as feedback. Failures, or bumps in the road, can provide us with information we need to succeed. Reinforce the message that we can learn from our mistakes and move on with new, valuable knowledge.

Celebrate it. Acknowledgment and celebration are huge parts of achieving goals. Acknowledge every effort and celebrate your child’s mini-successes along the way to achieving a goal. This builds his or her confidence and motivation. Your child will feel good and understand that perseverance will result in another mini-success and finally goal achievement. Try going through the goal-setting process as a family. Pick a family goal (perhaps a charitable activity) and work together to achieve it. After the family experience, have each family member pick a personal goal. Support and acknowledge one another as you move through the above steps. Success is assured when students believe in themselves and in their ability to achieve. Parents are key to helping them believe and succeed.

I want to wish you all a wonderful holiday season filled with peace, health, joy, and happiness as you experience lasting memories with family and friends.

Understanding the Local Education Budget

Presented by Erika Haynes, Director of Community Engagement
Connecticut School Finance Project

Thursday, January 23

6pm-7:30pm

Please join Parents and Teachers of Braeburn (PTB) for a valuable, informative presentation.

This workshop is designed to prepare you for budget season. It is meant to help community members better understand what “the budget” means. Beginning with understanding the flow of funding from the state to local districts, we will then look at the local education budget. Where do I find our budget? How long is the budget? How detailed? What can I easily take away from it? What is difficult to find in the budget? How do I ask questions about the budget and who do I ask? We will take a look at some of the documents that we can find online so participants can become comfortable participating in the local education budget discussion.

We believe that it is vital for all students in West Hartford Public Schools to be able to efficiently and effectively use digital tools that empower them in all phases of the learning process, including research, problem solving, content creation, communication, and collaboration. We also believe that we must be committed at all times to protecting students' privacy and providing them with a powerful and safe educational experience. To that end, the West Hartford Public Schools follow the legal requirements of Public Act 16-189 to promote the safety and security of all students and staff. In compliance with Connecticut State Law, we update online programs used within the district that house student data. The programs may be used district-wide, in a very small number of classrooms, or with individual students. The list will be updated each time the district enters into a new contract where student data is housed.
